LOS ANGELES ANTIQUES ART + DESIGN SHOW

OCTOBER 10 THROUGH 14

The 17th annual Los Angeles Antiques Art + Design Show, October 10 through 14th at the Barker Hangar at Santa Monica Airport, benefits Los Angeles County Museum of Art's Decorative Arts and Design Council. The mission of this museum support group is to raise funds for the Decorative Arts and Design department so that significant works of art can be acquired for LACMA's permanent collection. World-renowned antiquarian Joel Chen of Los Angeles will be honored with the Decorative Arts and Design Council's Design Leadership Award on opening night for his extraordinary contributions spanning four decades as a gallerist, impresario, and philanthropist. For the first time, the show will include contemporary art and 21st century design. With sixty premier national and international exhibitors, the show will continue to feature decorative and fine art reflecting all design movements across the millennia, including American and European period furniture and decorative arts, important 20th century modern design, tribal arts, Asian and African arts and Native American arts.

BREEDER'S CUP WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

NOVEMBER 2 THROUGH 3

The Breeders' Cup World Championships is horseracing's most prestigious and influential international event, attracting racing's elite, the best horses, owners, breeders, trainers and jockeys. Beginning with the dramatic three-way finish in the 1984 Classic, the Breeders' Cup has charged to the front of the worldwide racing stage. Twenty-eight years and 238 Champions later, the event has transcended the sport itself. Blowout parties, big name concerts, exclusive VIP happenings—Things are just as fast-paced off the track. The Breeder's Cup Championship takes place on November 2 through 3, 2012 located in Santa Anita Park, Santa Anita, CA.
